

FOOL DRAWINGS.

One Thousand Beautiful Specimens on Exhibition at the Public Library.

These persons of the grand order, who grudge not a little time given to drawing in the Public Library, should visit Mr. Jones's room on the third floor of the Public Library, and examine the collection of over 1,000 drawings, some exquisite both in design and execution, that are there exhibited, all the work of the pupils. These drawings, the work of the first school year, and the work of the second year, are the work of the pupils of the Cincinnati Public Schools, who are now in the second year of their studies. P. Telegraph Company, the crowd in New York knew the exact result some time before those who stood in Music Hall waiting for the tellers of the Convention to announce the result. It is safe to say that no finer telegraph service was ever rendered by an equal force, than that which the A. & P. Telegraph Company accomplished during the Cincinnati Convention. The other companies also did fine work.

Police Court.
Henry Mitchell, convicted of stealing $25 worth of clothing from H. B. Furness, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in the Work-house.

Fugitive from Justice.
L. D. Jackson, a Deputy Sheriff from Trout Hill, Wayne County, West Virginia, is in the city looking for a young man named Alonzo Burns, a son of John Burns, a prominent lawyer of that place, who is wanted for shooting Elijah Jackson with intent to kill. The shooting occurred about six months ago, and since then Burns has kept out of the way.

The officer tracked his captives to Cincinnati, and is confident of capturing him. A Star reporter ran across the deputy this morning, and, among other questions asked him by the scribe, was whether or not Jackson was badly hurt. "Well, I should say he was hurt," replied the West Virginia officer. "He's just hurt so bad that he ain't been out of bed since the shooting happened. Y'er mought know he's hurt when an inch and a half square of his skull was clipped out and a table-spoonful of brains."

Before 'Squire Schwab.
Martin Buck was married on the 9th of March last. After the ceremony he invited the guests to a wedding dinner in a saloon on Central avenue. Buck ordered ten bottles of wine, three bottles of seltzer, fifteen cigars, dinner for eight, and various other things, the bill amounting to $23.15, for which he failed to pay at the time. The saloon-keeper waited till yesterday for his money, and finding he was not likely to get it, brought suit before 'Squire Schwab for that amount.

A suit was brought yesterday evening by Sarah Smith against Herman Ameling for damages to the amount of $42. The plaintiff claims that Ameling, without a word of warning, began cleaning out a chimney, ruining twenty pairs of pants which she was working on, also spoiling her carpet, the damage amounting to $42. Both of these cases were set for hearing next Tuesday.

Death by Lightning.
Joseph Kas, a German farmer about fifty-five years of age, residing in Green Township near the Seven Mile House, on the Harrison Turnpike, and near County Commissioner Joseph Reardon's residence, was struck by lightning at half past 11 o'clock yesterday morning while out mowing in his field. At the commencement of the storm he started towards his home, and when near his house hung his scythe on a tree. A bolt of lightning struck him just then, and the electric fluid ran down his back, leaving a large black streak. He was killed instantly.

Kas was an industrious farmer and leaves a wife and five grown up children to mourn his sudden death.

FRIGHTFUL FALL.—A most distressing accident, and one that may yet prove fatal, occurred yesterday about 1 o'clock at the school-house adjoining St. Stephen's Church, on Saratoga street. Willie Hoffer, aged ten years, son of Leopold Hoffer, after returning from his dinner proceeded to the second floor of the school building, and while attempting to raise the window the latter slipped up from his hands, causing him to lose his balance, and he fell out and to the pavement below, a distance of thirty feet.

He fell on his left side, causing a compound fracture of the left leg, and his arm was broken at the elbow. His face was also frightfully injured and so disfigured as to be almost unrecognizable.

He was carried to his home, at the head of Monmouth street, and Drs. Jeannet and Thornton called in. The little lad was still living at 12 o'clock to-day.

It is but a short time ago that he was kicked in the face by a mule and his jawbone broken, and about a year since he was kicked on the leg by a horse and badly injured.

DEATH OF AN OLD PIONEER.—Mr. Thomas G. West, who is among the oldest citizens of Campbell County, died this morning shortly after 1 o'clock, in the eighty-fourth year of his age. He was born at Philadelphia, Pa., and came to this County over forty years ago, and settled on a farm near Persimmon Grove, where he has resided up to the time of his death. His wife, a venerable old lady, and a large family survive him. His son-in-law, Mr. John Anderson, is a prominent citizen of this city. The funeral will take place to-morrow, at 1 p. m., from his late home.

The K. A. U. R. Fishing Club, of this city, that left last Monday for a two-weeks' fishing expedition is reported as having a fine time and immense luck. One of the members, Dud. Moron, landed a fine eel night before last measuring four feet in length, and Johnnie Walsh had the same success with a fine white perch weighing twelve pounds. Quite an amusing incident occurred yesterday with the boys. A supply of fresh buttermilk was sent the boys, and an over indulgence on the part of two of the members caused a sickness much resembling that often seen on board ship.

Several months since the room of Joseph Calvert in the Henderson House was entered during the night, and that gentleman's clothes carried off. Suspicion was directed upon Charles Goodwin, who had departed unceremoniously from the building. When approached he surrendered the goods and fled the city, but Friday he returned and was immediately arrested. He was bound over in $500 to appear in Court.

LAFAYETTE, IND.
The damage done the railroad by the recent high water is about repaired and trains are running as usual.

The railway station at Saybrook, Ill., on the L. E. & W. Railroad was last night struck by lightning and burned down.

Mr. G. W. Smith, General Passenger Agent of the L. E. & W. has returned from Indianapolis, where he went last week to attend a meeting of the General Passenger Agents.

The Wabash River has again resumed its wonted quiet way, and looking at its gently-flowing current one can scarcely realize that but a short week ago it was a broad, raging devastating torrent.

The warm, moonlight evenings have come, and the scent of the artesian water is wafted afar on the balmy breezes, bearing strong suggestions of the infernal regions. Yet Lafayette is proud of her artesian well, and the gallant young men and coy maidens linger round the mystic fountain. When he kisses her good-night he is not at all disturbed by the decayed hen-trout odor which pervades her breath.

JONES' STATION.
The many beautiful suburban districts of Cincinnati are noted for the charming hospitality of their citizens and the cordiality with which the stranger in their midst is made to feel at home. None the less are they noted for a sociability among themselves and a kindly feeling for each other which goes to make life worth living in these pleasant rural retreats. An agreeable example of these social delights was given last evening at Jones' Station, when the neighbors of Mr. B. B. Stewart surprised him by assembling at his residence, in goodly numbers, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, and celebrating his birthday. The people of Jones' Station are especially a social, whole-soul and genial community. In fact they rank in social qualities just where the magnificent land they cultivate does for agricultural purposes—right up to the head of the list. This could not help being the opinion of the stranger that looked in upon them last night during the birthday celebration at Mr. Stewart's home. The affair was one purely of his friends. They provided the entertainment, invited the guests, inaugurated the festivities and saw that the occasion was made one worthy of the most important anniversary that one can celebrate. The unfavorable weather kept only a few away, the large majority being willing to brave the storm when a neighborhood gathering was the attraction. Altogether it was a delightful occasion, instituted in that spirit of neighborly good feeling that so largely prevails, and received in the full spirit of its kindly tendering.

VINCENNES, IND.
Hon. T. R. Cobb came home to-day.

A Democratic ratification meeting will be held here the 30th.

Ed. Sheppard and Albert P. Niblack have returned home.

Miss Tillie Schoenfeld had a social last night, which was well attended.

The boys set fire to a dry goods box last night to ratify Hancock, when Officer Hall came along and put it out.

The Democratic News correspondent had a conversation about six months ago which the Commercial has just found out and enlarged upon.

Sam. Lyons, John Boyle, W. F. Pidgeon, Eeg. John Long, Wm. B. Robinson, Wm. Lajour and others have arrived home from the National Convention at Cincinnati.
